MR. GEORGE IN A STATE OF ERUPTION.

The debate continued for a couple of hours and the Democrats grew more and more ancomfortable about 4 o'clock, and when there was a prospect of reaching a vote this afternoon the Democrats were compelled to sound a deeper depth ef misery than they had before experienced. Senator George, sometimes called "the Mississippi volcano," showed symptoms of a violent cruption, and the Republicans were glad to see him rise to address the Senate. He wanted to ask who had first opened the door for the admission of Chinese into the United States, and in the same breath he answered his own question by declaring that it was the Republican party, and it was done when that party negotiat d the Burling me treaty. There were no Chinese here when that fatal step was taken by a Republican Congress and a Republican Administration. The Senator was not to be interrupted, and so he continued for an hour, entertaining himself and his Republican opponents, but giving his better-informed Democratic friends untold misery, piaying the variations on his own theme that there were no Chinese in the country until the Republicans opened the doors by the Burlingame treaty and let them in.

There were several Republicans ready to answer Mr. George when he sat down, but Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, obtained the floor and completed the task neatly in about five minutes. He produced official statistics going back to the year 1852 and giving the number of Chinese laborers admitted through the port of San Francisco alone, year by year, down to the time the treaty took effect. They numbered from 3,000 to 20,000 a of misery than they had before experienced. Sen-year by year, down to the time the treaty took effect. They numbered from 3,000 to 20,000 a year, and their total when the treaty went into effect was 141,000. Something was now heard to collapse, blie an exploded puff ball; it was Mr. George. His premises having been false his labored argument fell to the ground. WHO FIRST INVITED THE CHINESE ?

But the responsibility for the coming of the Chinese was a choice morsel with the Pacific Coast Republicans, and Mr. Mitchell proceeded to dish up a few bits of local history with which the Senator from Mississippi soon had a surfeit. It was a Democratic Governor, MacDougal, of California, a Southerner by birth, and a man who represented and cherished the sentiments of his section, who invited the Chinese to come; who pre-ferred them before Irishmen or Germans or Eng-lishmen; who said in a public message to his Legislature that the Chinese were the most de-sirable class of immigrants that California could have; and it was a Democratic Assembly in Cali-fornia which for the encouragement of Chinese immigration had proposed, and with the full party strength had passed, a bill to legalize labor contracts made abroad, which bill, but for the anti-Democratic votes in the State Senate, would have brought in uncounted thousands of Celestials to work at from $3 to $12 per month in competi-tion with American laborers whose average wages at the time were about $90. tion, who invited the Chinese to come; who pre-at the time were about $90.

The bill went over with Senator Teller in possession of the floor for to-morrow. Senator Morgan is known to be preparing a speech upon it, which may take anywhere from a day to a week in delivery. The measure has slipped into the vertex of the political which pool and may become as much of an issue as the Fisheries treaty or the Tariff.

A few Congressmen are asking themselves to-night: "What if the bill be passed and signed by the President, and then information be re-ceived that the Chinese have ratified the treaty?"

"PUBLIC OFFICE" IS A "PRIVATE SNAP."

SENATORS PLUMB AND VEST ENGAGE IN LIVELY DEBATE ON CIVIL SERVICE METHODS.

Washington, Sept. 3 (Special).-There was a lively debate in the Senate this afternoon over a tariff com-pilation recently published by Captain Thomas H. McKee, Assistant Librarian of the Senate. Mr. McKee has given much attention to the progress of tariff discussion in Congress and his compilation is one of great value. The title page bears Captain McKee'- name and official title, and it was this to which Mr. Vest objected. He offered a resolution instructing Senator Hale's Civil Service Committee to examine into the uestion. The debate which arose over this resolution was a continuation of the discussion of some days ago between Senator Vest and Senator Cullom, and several of the old questions were raised. Among other things Mr. Vest read a letter from Postmaster Judd. of Chicago, denying any knowledge of the action of his law partner in "holding up" the post office employes

Senator Vest and Senator Plumb. The Kan as Senator. no more than Speaker Carlisle would be justified in doing, went into the question of Civil Service reform and the present Administration in a way that evidently hurt Mr. Vest's feelings. Mr. Vest said that he was not a believer in the doctrine that " to the victor belongs the spoils," and neither was Mr. Cleveland, good evidence of which could be found in the fact that in to Republicans than to Democratic employes. Why, he continued, with some vehemence, he could not go to a department to discuss matters political with its chief without being obliged to conduct his conversation what right he took up the office hours of a Department chief for political discussion, when they were supposed to be devoted to the public service? Beside this, he said, the offence of Mr. McKee sank into insignificance. A heavy laugh from epublicans and Democrats alike to kewed this hit. Secator Flunch followed this question up later and remarked incidentally that to all appearances, under this Administration, instead of a public office being "a public trust," it is regarded as "a private snap." This hit completely upset the dignity of the grave Senators. The Democrats seemed to enjoy it as much as the Republicans. Senator Gorman threw himself back in his chair and gave full vent to his merriment, while Vest fairly turned purple it his efforts to restrain his laughter. Visitors in the galleries roared. The resolution went over until to-morrow.

Bills were introduced placing cotton-bagging on the free list, and for the purishment of persons connected with Trusts. The senare bill relative to the detail of Army and Navy officers to educational institutions was agreed to.

THE GUATEMALAN FREE ZONE. Washington, Sept. 3. - The Department of State is advised by the United States Minister in Central America that the proposed abolition of the free port and zone of Livingston, Guatemain, as contemplated by a Presidential decree of July 6, 1888, has been temporarily suspended so far as the enforcement of the provisions of Article 3 thereof is concerned. That article reads as follows:

Foreign merchandise destined for consumption in the territory similar between Saistons and Santo Tomas, on the guif of its name, and San Felipe, on Lake Yabel, which has constitued the free zone, shall pay the corre-pondent import duties.

The Custom House at Livingston has, however, been transferred to Yzabel, where it form rly existed, previous to establishment of the free zone in 1882.

D. B. HILL THEIR FRIEND.

HOPES OF LIQUOR-DEALERS IN BUFFALO. DELEGATES TO THE CONVENTION ARRIVING IN THAT CITY-DECLARING THAT THE GOV-ERNOR PROTECTS THEM FROM TEM-PERANCE LEGISLATION-TO WORK

FOR DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Buffalo, Sept. 3.-The character of the State convention of the Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association, of which the first session will be held here to-morrow, is broadly indicated by a large portrait of David B. Hill, inscribed with the words "Cur Friend," which is hanging on the front of a liquor-store adjacent to Turn Hall, in which the convention will meet. Henry Endres, the proprietor of this liquor-store, at No. 337 Elliott-st., said to-day:

" I have hung out Mr. Hill's portrait because. as I sav in the inscription, he is our friend, the friend of every liquor-dealer. He ought to be renominated for Governor." Mr. Endres, therefore, has surrounded Mr. Hill's portrait with evergreen and flags and has placed it on the wall of his liquor-store on a level with the second story window, where every one can see and admire it. Mr. Endres also had an eye to business, because he has attached to Governor Hill's portrait a placard advertising the merits of a special brand of lager beer, sold in his store and another placard bearing the words:

"Welcome, delegates." This is not the only portrait of Mr. Hill in the liquor stores of the city. Charles Loth, a liquor-dealer of No. 160 Exchange-st., also has a portrait of "Our Friend" Hill in the window of his liquor-store, and George Rupp, proprietor of Greener's Hotel, at No. 20 Huron-st., displays Mr. Hill's portrait in his barroom, over the bar. But it has been left to John Gleasser, who has a tiquor-store at No. 196 Broadway, to honor Mr. Hill the most. Mr. Gleasser is secretary of the Executive Committee of the three associations of the liquor-dealers, of Buffalo, and as such he has had the chief labor in making preparations for the holding of the convention. He has favishly decorated Turn flall with flags and flowers. But this was not sufficient evidently in Mr. Gleasser's opinion. There must be some crewning decoration. Visitors to Mr. Gleasser's liquor-store to-day, therefore, found on exhibition a large portrait of David B. Hill in a handsome frame, bound round with American flags and having attached to the frame a placard inscribed in large letters:

"Our Friend." These words seem to occur

naturally to every liquor-dealer when he thinks of David B. Hill. The portrait also bears an exact copy of David B Hill's signature when he vetoed the High-License act. Mr. Gleasser will convey this pertrait into the convention hall at an opportune moment, when the liquor-dealers have been told in eloquent words what David B. Hill has done for them, how he has vetoed every temperance measure-and, of course, its exhibition will draw out thunders of applause. The convention is palpably held in Mr. Hill's interest. It is called for the purpose of raising $250,000 as a campaign fund to insure his re-election. If Mr. Hill is re-elected, the liquor dealers here say it will be a guarantee to them that no law will be passed for three years to come prejudicial to their interests.

Among the liquor dealers who arrived to-day were: B. T. Kearns, of New-York, president of the State Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association, and Max D. Stern, of New-York, financial secretary of the Association. These gentlemen have been hard at work for three months organizing the liquor dealers of the State. It is said that each liquor dealer in the State has been made to pay $3; and each brewer three cents on each barrel of beer he makes, as a first contribution toward Mr. Hill's coming campaign expences. Another liquor dealer who came today to attend the Convention was David A. Dishier, of Utica, for many years a member of the ocratic State Committee. Mr. Dishler is chairman of the Liquor Dealers' Association, of Utica, and of course comes here to get all the money he can for the Democratic party.

To-day "The Buffalo Courier," the leading

Democratic newspaper here, published an article remarkable because it is coupled with the fact that on Saturday it said editornally: The pre-ent indications are that Governor Hill will be renominated with the same unanimity which characterized the renomination of President Cleveland at St. question that affects the trunk lines only little.

The article has excited intense interest in this city. It is as follows:
"The Saloon Journal," published in New York, and devotion to the interests of the retail fluor trade editoridevotion to the interests of the retail liquor trade editori-sity, says of the retail liquor dealers' convention to be held in this city to-morrow and Wednesday: "The Liquor Dealers' State Convention to be held at Buffalo, September 4 and 5, has something more to do than have a good time. It is a serious question what sort of time they will have after election. The Republicans are driven line a sornor, no matter what they do. They driven into a corner, no matter what they do. They must join hands with the temperance people, and even a partial victory this fall would mean the destruction of the whole injure traine. There is only one safe way for the liquor interest. They must unite to a man to work. heart and soul, day and night, for the success of the Democratic party, and the best way for the delegates to spend their time is to consider the best means to achieve the success of the Democrats, State and National. We have not the slightest doubt of the outcome, but it will not be a walk-over by any means. Warner Miller knows a hing or two, and he will strain every nerve to get where he wants to. Gentlemen, it is for you to prevent his election, if you have to take off your coats and work from now until the polls close on the 6th of November. It is not enough to elect your ticket; you must bury the temperance-prohibition combination under such a crushing majority that they will lose faith in resurrection. Gen-

A more open confession by the leading Democratic newspaper of Western New-York that the Democratic party relies upon the liquor dealers for success in the present campaign could not be made. Leading Democrats of Buffalo coudemned "The Courier" to-day for disclosing so frankly the designs of the leaders of the Democratic party. They said it was bad enough for a pointical party to have such a debasing arliance as that which at present exists with the figuor-dealers, without having the fact should from the dealers, without having the fact shouted from the house-tops. The liquor-dealers were at once informed that they must be circum peet in whatever they do to-morrow. They were arged to hold a secret convention behind closed doors and not to permit newspaper reporters to be present. With a view of imparting secrecy to the proceedings of the convention, the following members of the Excentive Committee of the State Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association met at Turn Hall to-night: B. T. Kearns, of New-York: George H. Campbell, of Syracuse; R. H. Lyons, of Syracuse; William Helmes and P. J. Fitzgerald, of Troy; P. M. McCutcheen, J. J. Ennis, Max D. Stern, P. M. Mellen, T. Maher, W. F. J. Prelle, of New-York: A. Fuchs, and John C asser, d Baffalo; David A. D shler, of Utica: Edward Dillon, of Fishkill; and P. D. Pickerns, of Newburg, tlemen, that is your main business at Euffalo. Attend billon, of Fishkill; and P. D. Pickerns, of Newburg.

The Executive Committee were in session till a late hour, but had no news for reporters except that there would be a large attendance at the convent on. The association has 25,000 members and 700 of them will come to Buffalo as delegates to the convention. The object of the convention they said was "to secure protection to the liquor trade." It was also announced that the convention to-morrow would listen to addresses from John M. Atherton, of Louisville, Kentucky, president of the National Protective Association, and H. B. Miller, of South Bend, Indiana, secretary of the same association. Furthermore, it was said, a committee had arrived in Buffalo, representing the wholesale liquor dealers of the State, who desired to loin the State Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association. Teh Association would in this manner be much strengthened. The members of the Executive Committee said that they hoped

Herefore, but it is and over has proved to be an effective and that they would be often speaker Carlisis and the people of that Shate will be much speaker Carlisis and the people of that Shate will to finish the work of the convention to-morrow. Clearly the members of the association do not desire prolonged newspaper attention. The object of the convention is to raise money to elect David B. Hill as Governor, and as this aim can be quickly stated, there is no reason, in the opinion of the leaders, why the convention should be a long one.

The "creature comforts" of the delegates are carefully provided for in Turn Hall. There is a bar in the place, but it is much too small to accommodate the thirsty delegates. It was ten feet in length, but has been made forty feet in length. A great many barrels of whiskey and beer have also been put in steck.

On Wednesday the delegates will be put in carriages and driven through Buffalo. They will then take a steamboat ride upon the Ningara river. There will be plenty of liquor everywhere. The day's celebration will end with a banquet at McComb's, on the Ningara River. A special train will arrive here from New-York tomorrow. Upon its way over the New-York Central, it will pick up two or three hundred delegates to the convention. There are many delegates to the convention. There are many delegates to the convention already in the city, and all favor the recelection of David B. Hill as Governor.

B. T. Kearns, president of the Association, said

B. T. Kcarns, president of the Association, said B. T. Kearns, president of the Association, said to-night: "One of the purposes for which we meet to-morrow is to take measures to elect members of the Legislature who will act in our interest and defend us from legislation that would be unspecified to hold an open convention." Mr. Kearns said that no resolution would be passed commending David B. Hill for his vetoes of temperance measures. That would be unnecessary. It was plain from Mr. Kearns's cautious talk that he had been warned by the leaders of the Democratic party. Mr.

Kearns's cautious talk that he had been warned by the leaders of the Democratic party. Mr. Kearns will act with more effect as a collector of money for David B. Hill.

Seeing that there will be so much money to handle, the liquor dealers were quarrelling tonight over the officers of their Association. New officers are annually elected. The leading candidates for president are Adolph Nelson, of No. 13 Cortlandt-st, New-York, and George G. Campbell, of Syraeus.

ALL OF THEM OPENLY FOR FREE TRADE. DEMOCRATS NOT TALKING NOW ABOUT THE SUR-

PICES-AN ENGLISH PAPER'S VIEWS. Philadelphia, Sept. 3 (Special),-"The Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association," under date of September 5, in speaking of the President's freetrade message will say: "In his famous message of last December the President, referring to the large surplus in the Treasury, said: 'It is a condition which confronts us, not a theory.' His supporters in the present campaign do not, however, take this view of the political and financial situation. They are ap-parently more intent upon the destruction of our protective policy than upon the reduction of the surplus. This is natural, as the President himself, in his message, showed how the tariff could be reduced but did not show certainly how to reduce the revenue.

The President's newspaper supporters and those among them who have taken the stump do not hesitate to denounce in vigorous terms the 'theory' of a protective tariff. They refer only incidentally, if at all, to the surplus. They have completely thrown off the Referring to the recent stumping tour of Vice-Presidential Candidate Alien G. Thurman, "The Bulletin" will say: "It will be seen that Mr. Thurman boldly preaches the 'theory' of free trade, pure and simple. He ignores all the benefits which protection has brought to the people of this country, and particularly all its cheapening effects on the prices of the manufactured articles that the workingman has to buy. According to Mr. Thurman's 'theory' of denying protection to our capitalisis and workingmen, we would to-day be buying all our manufactured goods in Europe and having no competing manufactures of our own. Europe would charge us what she pleased theory' of his involves the denial of any employment and any wages to American workingmen, unless they to another off flay Ridge and back to the starting tery pare willing to work for European wages but this is just what it does do. This is, however, no worse than the charge made by Mr. Cleveland that our and time were as follows: present protective tariff is a 'victous, inequitable and illegical source of unnecessary taxation.' This means that protection is not only a 'humbug,' but a crime also."

The Bulletin" also quotes the following from " The College Guardian" of July 20: "The vast im-te to the from and steel industries of this s of the issues of the tariff agitation in America country of the issues of the tariff agriculton in America.

TRUNK LINES NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE

TRANSCONTINENTAL RATE TROUBLE. The agitation caused in Chicago by the publication of the recently adopted transcontinental fre ght tariff excites comparatively little interest here as it is a the attitude of the Eastern companies. A couple of weeks ago Commissioner Midgley, who holds an advisory and med atory position in several associations lying between the seaboard routes and the group of Pacific reads, came to New-York to induce the trunk lines to accept a new transcontinental tariff. This R. S. Blake, who will compete with Warrington tariif proposed a difference of rates from inter or points and New-York city. Most of the managers of a discrim nation against local or interfor trunk line points which would not be permissable under the terms of the Interstate Commerce law. It was also held that in many cases, if this objection were waived. ventence in handling the traffic of the trunk lines. Many rates would be made which would permit local Pacific Coast, instead of a continuous shipment from Pacific Coast, Instead of a continuous shipment from the originating interior point to the Pacific Coast. Mr. Midgley was unable to secure enough co-operation from the trunk lines to render his mission successful and the consequence was that the new transcontinetal tariff was issued by some of the Western lines involving the rates that Chicago merchants are now claiming discriminate against their city. The trunk lines invist on their uniform rate schedule and classification as necessary under the Federal law and cannot be invorably or unfavorably affected by any complication which may arise in the far West out of the controversy.

PROHIBITIONISTS AT WORK.

The Prohibitionists of Westchester County met in evention at Gorham Hall, Mount Kisco, and put in nomination candidates for members of Assembly and county officers. The convention was called to order by J. B. Stephenson, of New-Rochelle, son of the car builder, who is now supporting Grover Cleveland for reelection. Clarence M. Nathaniel McKay, widely known as a contractor and shipbuilder, returned from Europe yesterday on the Servia, bringing with him as a souvenir of the voyage a severe cold, but looking hale and hearty. Mr. McKay has been absent two months. Much of this time he devoted to a practical investigation of the earn, what their wages will buy, and how they live. Mr. McKay's object was to ascertain how the lot of the average English workingman compares with that of the average English workingman Compares with that of the average American workingman. He returns armed with lacts and figures, and will publish them soon. They will show that, making all allowances for the fact that some things are chapter in England than America, the protected American workingman gets match more of the good things of life than does the free-trade English workingman with his world-wide market and his privileges of buying where he can buy cheapest and selling where he can sell dearest.

Twenty-one yachts started yesterday in the fall regatta of the Knickerbocker Yacht Club. The course was from an imaginary line between a stake-boa and the flagstaff on the club grounds at Port Morris to and around Gangway Buoy and return, twenty nautical miles. Prizes were given in all classes in which two yachts started, and a slik club signal was added for the yacht making the best time over the course. When the preparatory gun was fired the wind was north northeast and mild, and after the boats rounded Fort Schuyler it shifted to south southwest, making the sail a beat to windward both ways. Mos of the boats, after rounding the fort, made for Great Neck and fetched Stepping Stones Light on a long starboard tack, while the rest took short tacks aboard on a straight thrash to windward. Commodore F. E. Barnes had selected the launch Cozy, Captain R. Al Silvers, for the judges' boat. The start was a hard one, as the yachts had to contend against a head tide with little wind. All were handicapped except two, as the summary shows. The

The forty-foot sloops which competed at Larchmont last Frilay in one of the most interesting races ever seen in these waters had another contest yesterday over the Larchmont Yacht Club's course, in the Sound, twelve miles to windward and back. There were no restrictions as to the sails to be used, and club-topasis, therefore, were not barred. This was to the taste of the Boeton deep-draught keel bosts Baboon and Papoose, and both expected to show the New-Yorkers a couple of line Burgess over-hanging sterns. Mr. Burgess, however, had given over-hanging sterns. Mr. Bulgees, however, and given the Larchment one of his cup-defending centre-boards on a small scale, and with a reach on every part of the course, owing to a shifting wind. The Nymph won a good race against her opponents. The New-York sleep at all races has shown her powers in pointing, and in the three races to the front against the keel boats. A large meet of sailing and steam craft attended yesterday's race. The Nymph won bearing the Bab-on 3 minut s 42 seconds and the Banshee II minutes, I second. Paperse was beaten out. The wind at the start was northeast, blowing a first

MYSTERIOUS BOMB BROKE WINDOWS AND

A mysterious explosion in front of the flat house No. 405 East Seventy-seventh-st., twenty-five min-utes after noon yesterday, was heard at a distance of two blocks and caused much excitement and specuiation in the neighborhood. Half a dozen persons including James Colton, the janitor of the flat house, said they saw the thing which exploded. Some said it was a round object about the size of a basebalt, and others described it as having the shape of a from the roof of the house by some person who was not noticed, and it exploded before it reached the sidewalk. Janitor Colton was not many feet distant, and the shock of the explosion made him stag-ger, but he was not burt. Other persons in the treet also felt the shock, but they escaped injury. Half a dozen window panes in the first story of the and Janitor Colton found footprints leading from the wall of the next house to the front of the roof. The person who threw the bomb made his escape during the excitement which followed the explosion search was made. Probably it was a glass bomb. Inquiries in the neighborhood failed to show that any person had a grudge against any occupant of the flat bonse. Possibly some Anarchis was practising with a bomb, but the police thought the tomb was thrown by a practical joher, who succeeded in his attempt to scare people.

The local followers of baseball celebrated Labor Day by witnessing some remarkable sport. At the five local games, in which the New-York, Brooklyn and Jersey City nines took part just 34,279 people were present. Nearly 20,000 witnessed the two games in Brooklyn alone. The contest at the Polo Grounds in the afternoon was between the New-York and Philadelphia clubs, and was The contest at the Polo Grounds in the afternoon was between the New-York and Philadelphia clubs, and was one of the most remarkable ever played in this country. Darkness stopped the game at the ending of the eleventh inning, neither side having scored a run. Just 9,505 spectators were present, and the excitement throughout was unusually manifest. It was a pitcher's coutest, both Keefe and Sanders doing admirable work. The both Keefe and Sanders doing admirable work. score was as follows:
